1. Please notify the Centre if you change your name or address whilst the declaration is in force.
2. You can cancel the declaration at any time by notifying the Centre – it will then not apply to donations you make after the date of cancellation or such later date as you specify.
3. You must pay an amount of income tax and/or capital gains tax at least equal to the tax that the Centre reclaims on your declaration in the tax year.
4. If, in the future, your circumstances change and you no longer pay tax referred to in point 3, you can cancel your declaration.

Please return completed form to:

The Second World War Experience Centre

Preserving and sharing wartime memories

Leaflet kindly sponsored by the Maria Mallaband Care Group

The Second World War Experience Centre preserves and shares the experiences of people who lived through the Second World War. We have created a unique collection of more than 26,000 items including recorded interviews, love letters, diaries, photographs, uniforms and other memorabilia, which we keep safe to ensure that they are available to future generations.

We are committed to recording as many people's experiences of the war as possible and we need your help to do this. We are very aware that we are engaged in a battle against time; to capture people's memories of wartime life before they are lost forever.

Sharing memories

Our journal, Everyone's War, features articles by internationally renowned historians as well as recollections from our archives.

At our annual Lecture Series, leading historians and journalists delight our audiences with fascinating insights into many different aspects of the Second World War.

As well as providing an invaluable resource for historians, researchers and broadcasters, we work with schools ensuring young people develop an understanding of the experiences of those who lived through this conflict and a respect for the values and qualities of a unique generation.

“It has to be a good thing to preserve experience to help future generations understand what living through those years was like. Some school-children today do not even know who Winston Churchill was, so an archive which is dedicated to the war years deserves all our encouragement.”

HILDA CRAVEN, WOMEN'S ROYAL NAVAL SERVICE, 1942 – 1945

The wartime memories held in our archive are not just relevant to the National Curriculum for History; they provide teachers with resources that can help children with English, Geography, Modern Languages, PHSE and Citizenship, Drama, Art and Music lessons.

How you can help

“The Centre is dependent on donations to continue its vital work preserving our wartime heritage. Your gift will help the charity to safeguard these memories for future generations, so they may understand the sacrifice of men and women who lived and served in this conflict and learn something of the values of that time.”
